WORKS HEAD ROW GROWS AT CAPITAL

Senators Resent Retention of Several State Chiefs in Face of Opposition

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Senatorial resentment was aroused today over reports the administration would insist on confirmation of four or five state works progress administrators in the face of opposition.

In some instances it was understood the administration may even go to the extent of avoiding such tests by transferring the nominees to other salary rolls or reducing their pay.

Senator Murray, democrat, Montana, who is opposing the nomination of Ray Hart as administrator for his state on the ground Hart has "done a lot of foolish things," and may be a candidate for governor on the republican ticket, said any effort to dodge senate confirmation would be a "subterfuge and a wrong that should not be tolerated."

"The men ought to come squarely before the senate," he asserted, "for acceptance or rejection on their merits."

That the administration might be considering the strategy of avoiding floor fights was indicated in a report that P. Witcher McCullough would be retained as administrator for West Virginia without his nomination even being submitted to the senate. The governor of West Virginia is opposed to this nomination.

Nominations still pending before the senate appropriations committee and facing opposition, besides Hart, are E. W. S. Key, for Oklahoma; Paul D. Shriver, for Colorado and C. B. Treadway for Florida.

Senator Gore, democrat, Oklahoma, is opposing Key, while the governor of Colorado has expressed opposition to Shriver.

Murray said a representative of Works Administrator Harry L. Hopkins had gone to Montana to try to straighten out the Hart situation with the head of the state federation of labor.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, has announced he will press for confirmation and predicted the Hart appointment would be approved. He said Harry L. Hopkins also was standing pat for confirmation.

Surgeons Operate in Effort to Halt Height Shrinkage

MINNEAPOLIS, July 20.—(UP)—A shrunken little man closed his eyes at University hospital here tonight and prayed that the skill of modern surgery might restore him to his normal stature.

Hans Nelson, 52, Minneapolis painter, was operated upon in the hope of halting a strange quirk of nature which has resulted in taking 10½ inches from his height.

Surgeons studied his case for months. Then they reached the decision that Nelson possessed an overactive parathyroid gland. They removed that gland.

At the hospital no predictions were made that the operation would result in restoration of Nelson's height but it was believed the shrinking will be halted.

Profits of RFC Are Doubled in Year

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(UP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation tonight reported doubled profits for the past fiscal year, thereby offering the republican party a campaign issue which may be useful in the 1936 presidential contest.

Chairman Jesse H. Jones reported RFC had earned $41,288,562 in the 12 months ended June 30, compared with profits of $21,784,383 in the previous fiscal year.

Political significance of RFC arises from the fact that it was created by the Hoover administration and was incorporated by President Roosevelt into the new deal. The profit record in the past two fiscal years is offset by tremendous losses on bad loans.

Salient provisions of the decree include:

Says Farm Labor Is Nearly Normal

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Taking notice of some complaints of farm labor shortages, the agriculture department said today that on July 1 the supply of farm labor throughout the United States was 95.7 percent of normal and the demand 89.5 percent of normal.

A marked increase in demands for farm labor has been shown in recent months, it was said, but this was described as seasonal. However, the increase in demand was said to have been slightly larger than usual because of improved crop conditions and prospects.

Emperor Haile Selassie Hurls Another Ringing Challenge at Italian Plan to Subdue Nation

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 20.—Emperor Haile Selassie flung another ringing challenge at Italy today as Italy's diplomatic representative here vigorously protested the "bitter tone of attacks on Italy" in the emperor's fighting speech before parliament Thursday.

Count Vinci, the Italian Minister, called at the foreign office to protest verbally against the address without waiting for written instructions from Rome.

Shortly before the emperor, citing the European nation's increasing preparations for war, appealed to the world to help avert the threatened Italo-Ethiopian war lest peace covenants become mere scraps of paper.

The "King of kings and conquering lion of Judah," whose stirring speech before parliament Thursday fired all Ethiopia's tribal lords to battle fervor, said in an interview:

"Ever since her crushing defeat by our army about 40 years ago, Italy has nourished the desire to attack us. This desire assumed today more hostile and more menacing form, which Italy has proclaimed to all the world.

"All our advances for peace have been rejected and our sincere desire for conciliation has been rebuffed.

"Now, 2,000 years after the crucifixion, is peace to be drowned in the blood and tears of a war?"

Reiterating Ethiopia's unwavering determination to "defend its territory to the last man for the preservation of our deathless record of never having been conquered," the dark-skinned, curly-bearded emperor made these points in his case against Italy.

1. The Italian attitude threatens to destroy the efficacy of the League of Nations.

2. It promises to convert the Kellogg pact outlawing war into mere pious hopes.

3. "A drunken brawl between native employes of a commercial agency and local police" is the best excuse Italy can find for her apparently impending invasion.

4. Italy "is seeking a pretext for a campaign of vilification with a view to eventual conquest."

'G' Men May Use Fur-Testing Device to Determine if Crime Committed by Curly Haired Man

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(UP)—J. Edgar Hoover's "G" men are testing crime detection possibilities of a device perfected by agriculture department scientists for the greater use of the textile and fur industries.

Dr. J. J. Hardy, senior fiber technologist of the bureau of animal industry, worked out the device for a rapid, yet accurate and easy study of the structure of hair, fur, wool, silk, cotton and other fibers.

"G" men of the federal bureau of investigation, always on the alert for new methods to perfect their crime detection, heard of the invention and are testing its workability in their field.

The invention permits the preparation of very thin cross sections for microscopic examination within 10 minutes. Under the former system, several hours were required to prepare samples.

Specimens for examination under the microscope can be cut to one-ten-thousandth of an inch, it was claimed. Ordinarily opaque fibers become sufficiently transparent for study under such thin cross sections.

With this device, detectives would be able to tell by examination of a single hair left at the scene of a crime whether the criminal had straight or curly hair. Under high magnification, straight hair is circular and very curly hair tends to be oval.

Department of agriculture experts are interested in the invention because it makes possible the ready detection of misrepresentation in quality of furs, fabrics and industrial products.

Who is she?

Where did the girl and the pretender to Austria's throne meet?

Does she know her ardent young admirer is a prince of the blood?

G. O. P. Leader Lashes Out at New Deal Plans

Charges President Has Come "Perilously Close to Impeachable Grounds"

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was accused today by House Republican Leader Snell of having come "perilously close to what some people call impeachable grounds."

In a statement palpably projected toward next year's election, Snell lashed the administration's entire legislative program and particularly the president's "latest tragary," the proposed taxes on wealth.

"No administration in the history of this country," he said, "has had such a confusing record and I hazard the guess that none ever will be so inconsiderate of the statutes, the constitution, and generally, what the people really want.

"In pursuing this headstrong course, Mr. Roosevelt has come perilously close to what some people call impeachable grounds."

Elaborating on the impeachment angle, Snell said the president was on the border line of violating his oath to preserve, protect and defend the constitution, when in a letter to Chairman Samuel B. Hill, democrat, Washington, of a ways and means subcommittee he urged approval of the Guffey-Snyder coal bill and said:

"I hope your committee will not permit doubt as to the constitutionality, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation."

Turning to the tax bill, Snell said:

"The attitude of the administration in this matter is additional proof that railroading and recklessness in consideration of important legislation are synonymous with Roosevelt."

He Rescues Pigeon; Nearly Loses Life

NEW YORK, July 20.—(UP)—Thomas Hannaberry risked his life today climbing a downtown church steeple to free a pigeon.

Someone had tied a four-foot string to the pigeon's leg. It caught in the cornice of the steeple on the Church of St. Mary the Virgin.
